Dear Parent and Carers,

This half-term, our homework quest will link to our learning in Geography. Our exciting topic from last half term of earthquakes and volcanoes will be the inspiration for our quest. Over the next couple of months your child's challenge will be to create their own volcano. The volcano can be any size so as large or as small as they like. Remember volcanoes also come in many different shapes and sizes so they can get really creative with how it looks. It would be brilliant if they can build them with a space in the middle, so we can try using them to recreate a volcanic eruption once they are brought into school. Below are some examples for inspiration and a link to some helpful videos.

Once again projects can be as big or small as you want. Completed projects must be handed in no later than Friday 21st of March 2025

As always, I would personally like to thank you in advance for the time, effort and resources that will be invested within your project.

If you have any questions at all regarding our quest, then please do get in touch.

Kind regards,

Mr Carrington
